Resnick Education Wing at Carnegie Hall
154 West 57th Street | Manhattan

Empowering the Next Generation of Music-Industry Leaders

The B-Side is a free program for young people (ages 14–22) who are curious about careers in the music industry. Through hands-on learning, field trips, and direct engagement with professionals, participants gain insight into the creative sector and build a network to support their journey.

Program Perks

- Free to participate
- Stipend provided
- Food and OMNY cards included

To RSVP, email TheBSide@carnegiehall.org and include “Recruitment” in the subject line. Please include requests for accommodations in your email. RSVP by October 17.

Come meet the team, ask questions, and learn how to apply! Applications open October 1.

Carnegie Hall and the Resnick Education Wing are accessible (including entrances and restrooms) for patrons with mobility disabilities. Assistive listening devices are available. To request other accommodations, contact Resnick Education Wing Operations at 212-903-9608 (for events in the Resnick Education Wing) or the House Manager’s Office 212-903-9605.
